

Hello clinical practitioner,

If you have patients who are a bit nervous about having an MRI scan, please ask them to visit the website:

happymri.com

It is a completely free website that helps patients overcome their anxiety related to the MRI scanner. It has simple psychological strategies that patients can use to go through with their scan.

Please share this with your colleagues. Thank you.